

What an Artist Needs

This painting isn't very colorful (or artistic) right now, because the artist was missing a few things. Hidden in the grid are seven things a painter needs to make great art! Click on each letter of the answers to cross them out. Each item intersects with at least one other item in the grid. The colorful letters indicate where two answers intersect. Answers can appear forwards and backwards, across or down, but not diagonal.

Once you've crossed out all seven of the items, write the leftover letters in the blanks below the painting, starting in the top left and going from top to bottom, then moving to the next column and adding its leftover letters from top to bottom, etc.

Once you've used all the leftover letters, you'll reveal a clue to something a painter doesn't need but which many have anyway. Enter that as your answer.

Something a painter doesn't need (but which many have anyway)
